Have a Heart Turn off TV

LONDON (UPI)—Cases of angina are on the increase, says an English doctor, and TV is to blame.

Dr. G. A. Rose, operator of a hospital clinic, advised viewers to turn off the set if they suddenly feel a sharp pain around the heart while watching cowboys and Indians.

Angina is due to emotional excitement or physical exercise, he said, and "television angina" is the most common variety.

'Justice Was Outraged'

VANCOUVER (CP) — A hearing to decide whether it's legal to have an unopened bottle of beer in a restaurant has been adjourned to March 2, with some pungent comment from a county court judge.

Judge R. A. Sargent adjourned an appeal hearing Thursday and said: "I've never seen a charge like this before. Justice was outraged."

The Crown is appealing the dismissal of a charge against J. B. V. Bennett of Vancouver that he illegally had a bottle of beer in his pocket while he sipped coffee in a restaurant here Dec. 7, 1958.

On Congress Payroll

Wives Help

WASHINGTON (UPI)—At least 10 of the 82 freshmen House members have put their wives or other relatives on the congressional payroll at annual salaries ranging from $4,047 to $13,345, House records show.

The relatives include six wives, one daughter, one son, one sister and one mother.

In employing relatives on their staffs, these freshmen followed a practice which has been common at the Capitol for many years.

House payroll records for January showed that more than 50 other House members had paid assistants who have the same last name. Most of them presumably were members of the congressmen's families, although this could not be determined.

Employment of relatives by congressmen is perfectly legal. No accounting is required to show when and how such employees put in their time.
